Dear Painted Pony Collector's,

I asked the Trail of Painted Ponies association for a statement regarding our beloved collection and any affects the Corona virus could have on the products. Here is what they replied...

"Hello Betsy, In terms of Painted Ponies, our manufacturer's stance is that there is nothing to indicate risk. The transit time from China would not allow for any live virus to live on the surface for that length of time. I hope that helps. Please let me know if I can answer any additional questions for you."

As always, I am blessed to have you as customers and friends and I want us all to make it through this part of the Trail.... Look forward, heels down, leg on!
